"The Outdoor Insider"

Can you believe it's August already? I had a long list of places I wanted to fish this summer, and there are still many that I haven't checked off. I had better get in gear and get out on the water. Before you know it, fall will be here!

I haven't been to Potholes Reservoir for months, and I wanted to know if it would be worth a trip down there. So, I sent a text to Shelby Ross, of Ross Outdoor Adventures, and asked him how the walleye bite was there now. Whom ever came up with the phrase "a picture is worth a thousand words" got that right in this case. He just sent me a photo of a recent trip, showing a family of four with a stringer of fish that was amazing. On the stringer was almost a dozen very nice walleye, over 20 really good-sized crappie, some big bluegill and even a whopper perch. He didn't have to say a word. This photo just said FUN, and lots of good eats. I am going to plan a trip to Potholes as soon as I can. We always pick up some big bluegill and some crappie when we are trolling for walleye, and if we want to get serious we look for one of the habitat boxes that are scattered throughout the reservoir. I think there is even a map that shows their locations. I bet the folks at the Mar Don tackle shop can tell you where to get one. We have found several boxes while trolling for walleye. When we do we switch to spinning rods with a hook, sinker and a chunk of worm and cast near them. What a blast!

My wife and I eat a lot of fish, and I often have enough in the freezer to give to family and neighbors. There are a couple of species that we tend to horde, because we like to eat them so much. One is walleye and the other is kokanee. I rarely go after trout anymore, because kokanee are so much better eating, and there are several lakes where they are abundant. Very close to our home in Leavenworth is Fish Lake, which added kokanee to the lake just a few years ago. You can usually count on catching kokanee on Lake Chelan, and just over the hill from Manson is Wapato Lake, which can produce some of the biggest kokanee in the region. Known for abundant numbers of smaller kokanee is Deep Lake, north of Soap Lake, above Park Lake. In the Spokane area there are several lakes that offer kokanee fishing. Badger Lake is probably the most popular, but anglers can also catch kokanee at Loon Lake and Clear Lake. East of Spokane in Idaho is Lake Coeur d' Alene where kokanee are especially large this season and nearby Hayden Lake produces big kokanee as well.

I checked in with a couple of guide buddies to see what they were up to this summer. Nate Stully of Stully's Guide Service said he was busy catching kokanee on Lake Chelan and catch and release sturgeon fishing on the Columbia River. Kevin Witte, of Up River Guide Service, said that he was still getting walleye in the Kettle Falls area on Lake Roosevelt. He goes when the smoke clears. It should be a pretty good year for walleye anglers on the big reservoir. Since 2002, the co-managers have conducted Fall Walleye Index Netting (FWIN) to monitor the walleye population. Monitoring enables managers to track the abundance, age, growth, condition, sex ratio, and age at maturity. WDFW reports that the walleye fishery has remained stable and resilient over time. Abundance of walleye decreased slightly in 2024 but was above the 20-year average. There were two large year classes detected for the 2025 fishery: age-2 fish that will be 12-14 inches and age-4 fish that will be 16-18 inches. Abundance of these age-4 fish was a record over the 23-year dataset, so anglers can expect better fishing for quality-size walleye than past years.

I am often asked where to take kids so they can catch fish easily and not get bored. There are many lakes throughout the region that offer good fishing for perch. Fishing for perch is not complicated. It just takes a hook and sinker and a piece nightcrawler to catch them. Sometimes you don't even need a rod. My Dad took a bunch of us kids perch fishing when we were all about six to eight years old. He rented a boat at a local lake and when he was anchored, handed each of us a reel. Just a reel. He had a hook and sinker on the line and after baiting the hook lowered each line down to the bottom. He told us to jerk when something pulled on the line and bring it in hand over hand. He didn't want a boat load of kids waving rods around, trying to cast, or playing swords when they didn't get a bite right away. It worked great. He was busy unhooking perch and baiting the hooks and we wound up with a basket full of fat perch. He paid a penny a piece to get them filleted—what a deal! This week's photo is of a happy youngster, Mabel Jima, with a nice perch.

I want to thank all of you that have subscribed to the FishingMagician.com Facebook page. It may not seem like much, but it really helps keep me on the road and afloat to do the reports that I do. You will soon be seeing information about fishing opportunities in north Idaho, in addition to the areas that I have been covering for years. All of this costs. The time and travel, fuel and licenses, etc. I also wanted to let you know that I have recently produced a series of videos that include reviews of some of my favorite products. These will be available to subscribers to the FishingMagician.com Facebook page. Things that I personally use when I am fishing for the different species available to us in this region. There are some tips and tricks that I share with subscribers as well. If you like what I do and want to learn more about what I use to catch fish and the products that I personally prefer, just click on the Subscriber button on my page. Thanks in advance!

OPERATION DOG TAG

OperationDogTag.org

I think Operation Dog Tag is a great program. I don't have a dog presently but they are going to locate a suitable one. I personally hope they can find a female Akita that can help me with many tasks. After I had the privilege of observing the group I could see how ODT helps veterans like us to connect back into society. I think somehow these dogs make life a little easier for those with chronic pain.

Joe Scheffer, being a Vietnam combat vet with the USMC and certified dog trainer, also has the ability to relate with us, so that becomes a win, win situation. We also are able to participate in the training of our own dog and that appeals to me.

I am excited and looking forward to finding my very own four legged "Battle Buddy."

COLVILLE VALLEY ANIMAL SANCTUARY
Is a non-profit located in Stevens County that helps care for cats & dogs. CVAS not only helps the animals find their fur-ever homes, but also the community & surrounding area. We offer low-cost vaccination clinics, information resources, Furry Tales (reading program for children), pet food bank, Seniors Saving Seniors (program matching seniors with senior pets at no cost; some requirements apply) & much more. Without the generosity of caring people who believe in our cause we would not be able to be here for those who need us. CVAS is funded by donations & any grants. Our daily operations are run mainly by wonderful volunteers who give their time & heart to CVAS. If you would like to volunteer or donate to CVAS please contact us: 509-684-1475, office@cvasanctuary.org or www.CVASanctuary.org

Trends & Advice

EASEMENT PROBLEMS

When purchasing property, buyers are usually more concerned about easements that cross or burden the property they are considering than they are about the nature and scope of the benefiting easement that allows them to access the property. When the time comes for closing, the closing agent shows the buyer a map and the portion of the title report that identifies the easements crossing the property (and other clouds on the title). However, unless there is some type of maintenance agreement, the easement that benefits the subject property (and provides access) will usually not appear on the title report. It takes additional research to locate those documents and read the full content and legal description of the easement.

The following are some important considerations when reviewing an easement document:

1. Is the legal description of both the benefitted property and the burdened property, as well as the exact location of the easement, clear and accurate?

2. Does the language specify that it is an appurtenant easement that runs with the land rather than one granted only to an individual or entity? Just because an easement runs with the land does not necessarily mean it is perpetual unless that is specifically stated. Ideally, the easement should be irrevocable, perpetual, and transferable.

3. Is the permitted use clearly defined, such as ingress, egress, and utilities, or is there other language that clearly defines the purpose and scope of the easement? Is the easement intended to serve a single residence, or does it allow for expanded uses such as a future subdivision, guests, contractors, or commercial activities?

4. Does it specify construction specifications, as well as repair and maintenance responsibilities?

5. Does it address issues such as gates, speed bumps, parallel fencing, the use of ORVs or ATVs, or potential damage caused by heavy commercial truck traffic?

In a recent case, a property owner installed a couple of gates at various points along an easement road located on their property. The road also served as the driveway for an adjoining property owner. The gates were installed to keep out unauthorized users who had been crossing the property illegally to access adjoining state land for recreational purposes. The owner of the benefitted property became very upset because they would now have to open and close the gates each time they entered or exited their property. They were disappointed to learn that the servient property owner had the legal right to install the gates, provided the benefited property owner could still reasonably access their property.

Great N.W. Gathering moves to CDA Casino

WORLEY, Idaho — The 4th Annual Great Northwest Gathering car show carries on, but in a new location for the Aug. 7-8 event.

Staged previously at the Spokane Fair and Expo Center, event promoter Brian Anderson decided the shift to the Idaho venue was necessary.

"(It's a) nice change of venue and they want me there," Anderson, who also produces the Spokane Speed and Custom Show in the spring wrote in an email.

Entries are coming from all over the Northwest, Canada and California with 400-plus already registered through late July.

Live music will also be present each day and include Sammy Eubanks Friday night.

Awards will be presented at 5 p.m. Saturday with a parking lot cruise to follow after awards. Vehicle entries can still register and pay Friday or Saturday morning at greatnwgathering.com.

Andrew Tate defends Seafair title
Sets new course record at Apollo Mechanical Cup

From H1 media

SEATTLE (Aug. 2, 2026) — Andrew Tate and the U-1 Miss BWR Racing successfully defended their Seafair title Sunday afternoon, capturing the Apollo Mechanical Cup for the second consecutive year after an exciting battle with Jimmy Shane and the U-27 Miss Apollo. The two championship contenders raced side-by-side for much of the final, thrilling the thousands of fans lining the shores of Lake Washington before Tate pulled away to secure another prestigious Seattle victory.

In the process, Tate also established a new Seafair final heat course record, averaging 143.423 mph, eclipsing the previous mark of 141.880 mph, set by John Theoret in the Miss Beacon Plumbing in 2006.

Behind the leaders, Dylan Runne delivered one of the strongest performances of his H1 Unlimited career, bringing the U-40 Bucket List Racing home in third to earn the team's first podium finish of the 2026 season. Runne held off a hard-charging Jamie Nilsen in the U-11 FLAV-R-PAC, whose fourth-place finish capped another impressive weekend. Nilsen and his team continued to exceed expectations, showcasing the speed and consistency that have quickly established them as one of the rising contenders on the circuit.

With his second consecutive victory at Seafair, Tate strengthens his position in the National High Points Championship as H1 Unlimited now turns its attention to the final race of the season, the Bayfair Cup in San Diego, September 18-20.

Cress captures South Sound NWSLM race

From NWSLM Media & NW Motorsports News Services

Tenino, Wash. (Aug. 1, 2026) – Alan Cress continued his recent success at South Sound Speedway (WA) Saturday night, claiming a hard-fought victory in the "Weatherguard Roofing – Kennedy Classic 200" before a packed grandstand.

Cress had to come from the back twice to earn the victory in Round #3 of the Northwest Super Late Model Series presented by Knottical Marine, taking home $8.000 for his effort. Cress in now the fifth driver to score multiple wins in the traditional "South Sound / Miller 200" event at the 3/8-mile oval. It is a feat he was excited to duplicate at his home track.

"It is awesome," Cress said from Victory Circle. "Not very many people have done it twice."

Cress, from Stayton, Oregon took the lead for the final time on lap 158, racing from third to the lead on the outside. He led Brandon Carlson and Dave Garber across the line as the checkered flag waved.

The next event for the Northwest Super Late Model Series will be the traditional "Neal Newberry 125" at the Wenatchee Valley Super-Oval on August 29.
